2.1.8 Summary of the project: Please list: type of activity, content, number and type of participants, duration, output and deliverables, final event (where and when). See: Candidate's Guide (max 2000 characters):

Il traffico delle merci falsificate costituisce uno dei maggiori problemi dei paesi membri della comunità europea, che ha approntato strumenti legislativi di contrasto non sempre uniformi nei vari paesi membri.

Il corso si propone di affrontare le problematiche interpretative connesse alle norme incriminatrici volte a contrastare tale fenomeno, che conosce nuove ed inedite forme di manifestazione del crimine transnazionale: si possono citare a titolo di esempio le "nuove" figure di falso, connesse ai progressi della tecnica, avendo particolare attenzione al cosiddetto "falso informatico", punito nella nostra legislazione dall'art. 491 bis c.p., o alle falsità materiali o ideologiche aventi ad oggetto i cosiddetti "documenti informatici".

Infine, non ci si potrà esimere dall'affrontare le problematiche sanzionatorie connesse alla tutela del "marchio" e, in genere, della proprietà intellettuale, che presenta aspetti interpretativi controversi.

Andrà altresì esaminata la legislazione relativa al contrabbando e alle frodi doganali che costituiscono di frequente i reati-mezzo attraverso i quali si raggiunge il fine della illecita importazione di merci falsificate.

Ancora andranno affrontate le problematiche attinenti alla tutela del diritto di autore e dei falsi di opere d'arte.

Si tratta di fenomeni criminali che oggi conoscono una inedita notorietà soprattutto grazie alle differenze economiche esistenti con paesi orientali.

Obiettivi specifici: il corso si propone di operare una rilevazione degli strumenti legislativi ed investigativi di contrasto a tali fenomeni e di verificare le differenze esistenti tra legislazione della CE e le legislazioni esistenti nei paesi membri e di approntare tecniche investigative comuni attraverso le quali operare efficaci e comuni azioni di contrasto.

2.1.8.1 Summary of the project (EN/FR/DE)

Please list: type of activity, content, number and type of participants, duration, output and deliverables, final event (where and when). See: Candidate's Guide (max 2000 characters):

The trafficking of fake goods is one of the largest problems for member states of the European Union, which have prepared legislation to fight the phenomena that is not always uniform between the various member countries.

The course proposes to face the interpretational problems that arise connected with incriminating rules aimed at fighting this phenomenon, that is showing new forms of transnational crime: for example the "new" false figures, connected to progress in the technique, with special attention paid to the so-called "computer fake" that is punished under our legislation by article 491 bis of the penal code, or material or ideological forgery which concern the so-called "computer documents".

Finally, we cannot be face the issue of the punishments connected with protecting "trademarks", and generally, intellectual property that provides controversial interpretational aspects.

The legislation concerning contraband and customs fraud will also be examined. These are frequently the crimes-means by which the purpose of illegal importation of fake goods is often achieved.

Problems relating to copyright and forgeries of works of art will also be addressed.

These are criminal phenomena that are now becoming notorious mainly due to the existing economic differences with Far Eastern countries.

Specific objectives: the course aims to assess the various legislative and investigative instruments used to fight these phenomena and to check the existing differences in EU legislation and existing legislations in member countries. It also aims to prepare common investigative technique through which a common, effective fight can be carried out.
